GERMANY ENTERS DENIAL

Torpedo Blamed For Initial Disaster; Kennedy Reports To Washington

BERLIN, Sept. 4—The German government today officially disclaimed responsibility for sinking of the British liner Athenia with 1,400 passengers aboard off the coast of Scotland.

British charges that the ship had been sunk by a German U-boat were officially denied.

The German war ministry branded Britain's claim that a German submarine had sunk the Athenia as "atrocity propaganda designed for American consumption."

It was asserted that the ship could have struck a British mine or that an accidental boiler explosion might have occurred.

LONDON, Sept. 4—First merchant marine casualty of the new European war, the 13,581-ton British passenger liner Athenia today was torpedoed off the Hebrides while carrying perhaps as many as 311 American passengers, but apparently only those killed by the initial explosion were definitely lost.

The British Press Association announced that the Athenia, first victim of submarine warfare, had

ULMS AWAITING WORD FROM SON TOURING EUROPE

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Ulm, 531 North Court Street, are anxiously awaiting word from their son, Kenneth, who is in Europe studying research work in the paper industry.

Mr. Ulm, an employee of the Philadelphia Branch of the Container Corporation of America, sailed from New York on July 29 on the S. S. Mauretania. He planned to spend several months in Europe traveling through the various countries and studying the paper industry.

The last letter received by his parents was mailed in London on August 18. At that time he was leaving England for a trip through Norway and Sweden. No word has been received from him since that time.

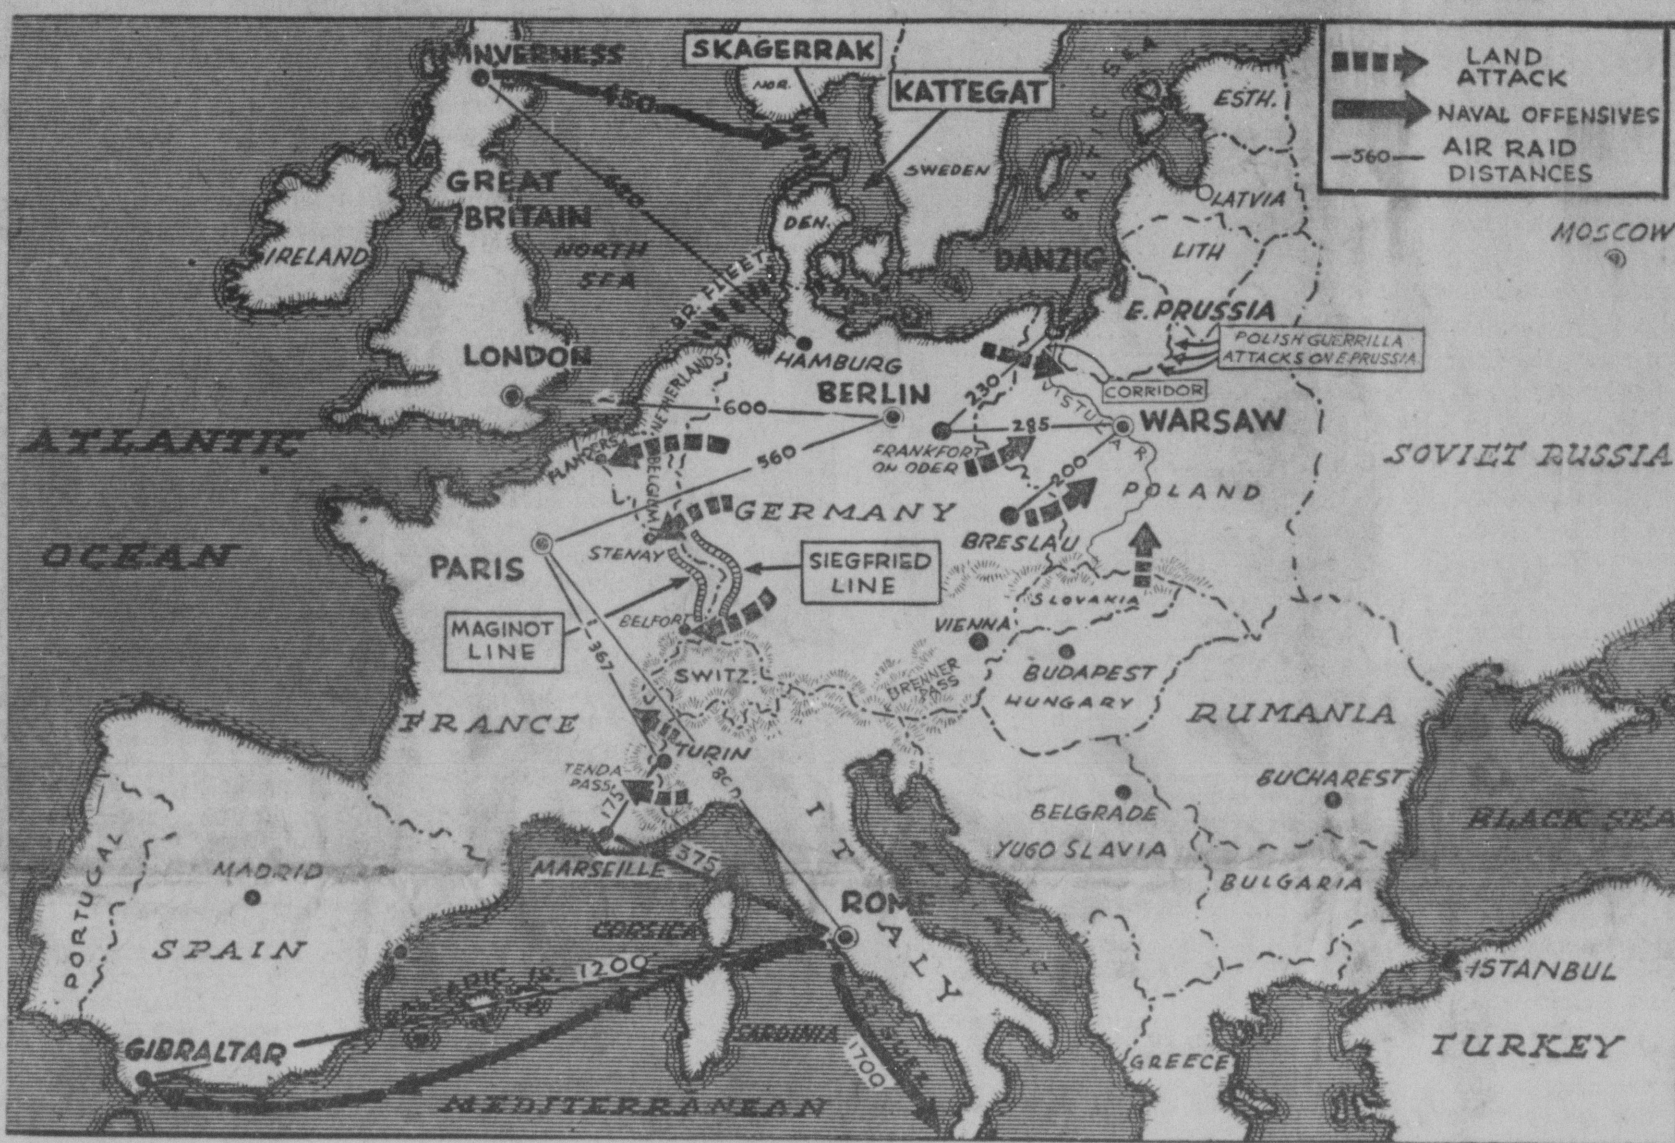

No passports of Circleville or Pickaway County folk for European trips were recorded with the county clerk of courts this Summer.

HERE'S STAGE OF EUROPE'S GREAT WAR

ABOVE is shown Europe's theatre of war. Armed forces, since the addition of Great Britain and France to announced hostilities, are expected to move in the following manner: Britain's mighty navy will blockade and shell the German coast, enter the Scandinavian Straits Skagerrak and Kattegat, cruise to the Baltic and if it is not too late relieve Danzig. On the Franco-German-Belgian front there are but three routes through or around the mountains and the Maginot and Siegfried lines. The gaps are at Flanders, Stenay and Belfort, but deadlock is likely. Italy, unless it remains neutral, will attack Suez and Gibraltar and storm the six heavily-armed mountain passes, already fully manned, leading into France.

Hitler Assumes Personal Command Of German Army Invading Poland

Based on German Field Dispatches From the Eastern Front, Berlin, Sept. 4—German armies under the supreme command of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler hammered eastward into Poland today while the west wall on the French frontier stiffened "like steel" to protect the Reich from any Anglo-French thrust.

As the new European war swung into its second day, the Fuehrer left Berlin for the Polish front, attired in his simple uniform of field gray and campaign boots.

From his belt swung a heavy automatic. A steel helmet and a gas mask were visible among his equipment as he stepped into a powerful car at the chancellery and roared away to the East to the cheers of an assembled throng.

As Hitler issued a proclamation to his army, again accusing "British gold, power and politicians" of plunging Europe into war, the high command made public field dispatches telling of sweeping gains across the Vistula river, Poland's life-line and describing emergency naval preparations in the Baltic.

The German radio broadcast a

LEOPOLD TAKES CHARGE OF BELGIUM'S FORCES

BRUSSELS, Sept. 4—King Leopold, like his father, Albert, today placed himself in personal control of Belgium's mobilized army. The King issued an order of the day saying: "I have taken over command of the army."

"I am certain that in all circumstances the army, because of its bravery and self-sacrifice, will know how to show itself worthy of the confidence the nation places in it."

The late King Albert personally commanded Belgium's armed forces in the last World War.

warning to all foreign shipping that mines had been laid in the Danish straits off the German coastline "to prevent naval raids in the Baltic."

Neutral Waters Observed
Neutral territorial waters are being rigorously respected, the broadcast said, but the waters directly off German ports had been mined with deadly explosives.

While German pilots had been assigned on a constant aerial patrol over an area extending from 55.15 N., 12.35 East to 55.6 N., 12.50 East.

While front-line dispatches emphasized Germany's firm conviction that all Polish resistance will be smashed within a few weeks, enabling the Reich to concentrate on any attacks from the West, the

OPERATIONS ON NAZI FRONTIER UNDER WAY, MINISTRY ANNOUNCES

Cabinet Called By F. D.

Neutrality Action Looms Following President's Radio Address

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—President Roosevelt, having pledged his every effort to prevent a "blackout of peace in the United States," today called an extraordinary session of his cabinet to debate the timing of his neutrality proclamation and the call of a special session of congress.

Both fateful actions were expected within 36 hours. Some highly placed officials intimated they might not be taken until tomorrow.

The neutrality proclamation will automatically force Mr. Roosevelt to put into effect a general embargo on shipment of "arms, ammunition, or implements of war" to every belligerent country he names in his finding of a state of war.

Congress will be called so that the President can ask for repeal of this embargo, permitting the United States to return to the straight principles of international law. The President vainly sought such action last session and prophetically warned that congress was gambling heavily there would be no European war before next January.

Meanwhile, an acutely war-con-

MANY OF COUNTY SCHOOLS START CLASSES AGAIN

Monday was "back to school day" for many Pickaway county youngsters. Some of the county schools opened Monday, others will open Tuesday. It is estimated that about 3,850 children will be registered in county schools this term.

Schools opening Monday held brief organization sessions with regular classes starting Tuesday. Wayne Township School will open September 11, the same date as the opening of Circleville High School. High school pupils of Wayne Township School attend Circleville High School.

Some Muhlenberg Township high school pupils attended Jackson Township School, Monday, in compliance with the decision of the Township Board of Education. They were transported by bus from Muhlenberg School to Jackson School.

The Muhlenberg Board has obtained an injunction against the County Board of Education, and others, preventing the transfer of

LUBITSCH CHILD ABOARD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 4—Ernst Lubitsch, German-born Hollywood motion picture director, said today his 10-months-old daughter, Nikola, was aboard the torpedoed British liner Athenia. The child was accompanied by a governess, he said. Lubitsch, renowned for the deft touches he imparts to pictures made under his direction, said his daughter had been visiting her mother, Mrs. Vivian Lubitsch, in London.

Eight Million Men Available In Maginot Line And Other Defensive Positions; Grip On Heroic Poland To Be Broken

RULER OF TUNIS PLEDGES ARMED AID

Gen. Gamelin Commands Land Forces Of Allied Nations; Offensives By Sea, Infantry And Airplane Reported

LONDON, Sept. 4—Great Britain's mighty navy, senior service of the Empire and backbone of defense against Nazi Germany, was launched today on a sweeping blockade of Reich naval ports.

As news of the torpedoing of the Donaldson liner Athenia shocked London, the navy intensified its patrol of British waters while blocking the entrance to the Baltic Sea near Skagerrak and throwing up an impenetrable line of floating steel across the North Sea.

Entrances to the Mediterranean Sea at Gibraltar and the Suez Canal were placed under comparable armed surveillance as a natural precaution.

PARIS, Sept. 4—The gigantic military machine of France went into operation on land and sea and in the air against Nazi Germany today.

The hostilities began at 11 P. M. Sunday (Circleville time).

A tremendous artillery duel opened the action.

(Editor's note: This dispatch passed by the French censor, did not state positively that the present action was on the Maginot Line, opposite the west wall in Germany, but it was generally presumed this was the case.)

An official statement by the French war ministry, labelled "Communique No. 1" declared:

"Operations have been begun so far as concerns the whole land, sea and air forces of the Republic."

Only a short while before, the Paris Midi sought to reassure the populace in the absence of formal announcement regarding the activities of the 8,000,000 French soldiers ranged on the Maginot Line and elsewhere in France.

"Despite the silence regarding military operations on the Western Front," the paper said, "France can be assured we are not inactive. The German armies are going to be forced to loosen their grip on heroic Poland."

(Editor's note: It was impossible to determine from the French communique whether France or Germany had launched the first offensive. In Berlin, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler announced that troops on the west wall would not go into action unless attacked.)

While the opening communique of the war did not reveal where or when France struck, it was regarded as significant that it referred to the "land, sea, and air" forces.

The first day of active war found France maintaining calm, but the general tempo was speeded, with every activity in the hands of military authorities.

Strictest martial law protected the abandoned homes of those called to service or who evacuated the cities. Looting is punishable by death.

Lighting regulations will be vigorously enforced. Several motorists were arrested during the night for showing too bright lights.

Strong Words Used

French newspapers used strong language in condemning Chancellor Hitler for "setting Europe ablaze."

Only a few motion picture houses were open today. The German and French embassy staffs, both of which have left the capitals, will be exchanged at a frontier point, probably in Belgium.

Prime Minister Daladier held an early conference today with Cesar Campinchi, navy minister.

The American Hospital in Paris today was turned over to the French government.

About This And That In Many Sports

Tourney To County?

Put into your little green book that the Pickaway County High School basketball tournament next spring will not be held in Circleville. . . . County school men meeting Saturday sent out feelers to at least one board of education concerning staging the annual tournament—or a part of it—in its gymnasium. . . . The superintendent at Atlanta was asked to determine the possibility of conducting some of the games in the new Perry Township gymnasium. . . . Others being considered include the new Monroe building, the Scioto building, that at Ashville, and the one at Jackson although the latter's board refused point blank last year to permit its school building being used for play. . . . Last year's controversy over racial and other details at the CAC gym has resulted in early action by the educators in seeking a suitable location. . . .

Tiger Gridders Rest

Tigers gridders were enjoying a brief vacation Monday with no practice scheduled because of Labor Day. . . . Coach Black and his boys are looking toward the opener a week from Friday with Columbus Rosary. . . . Although the starting date is near at hand there are numerous gridders not yet in condition to start play. . . . Jobs and vacations have prevented their appearing for practice. . . . The Red and Black will be starting its campaign without the services of Harold Hill, regular tackle, who is in camp at Port Knox, Ky. . . . Hill had been counted on for a starting post. . . . It is possible that some of the Tiger mentor's plans will have to be juggled to strengthen the line. . . .

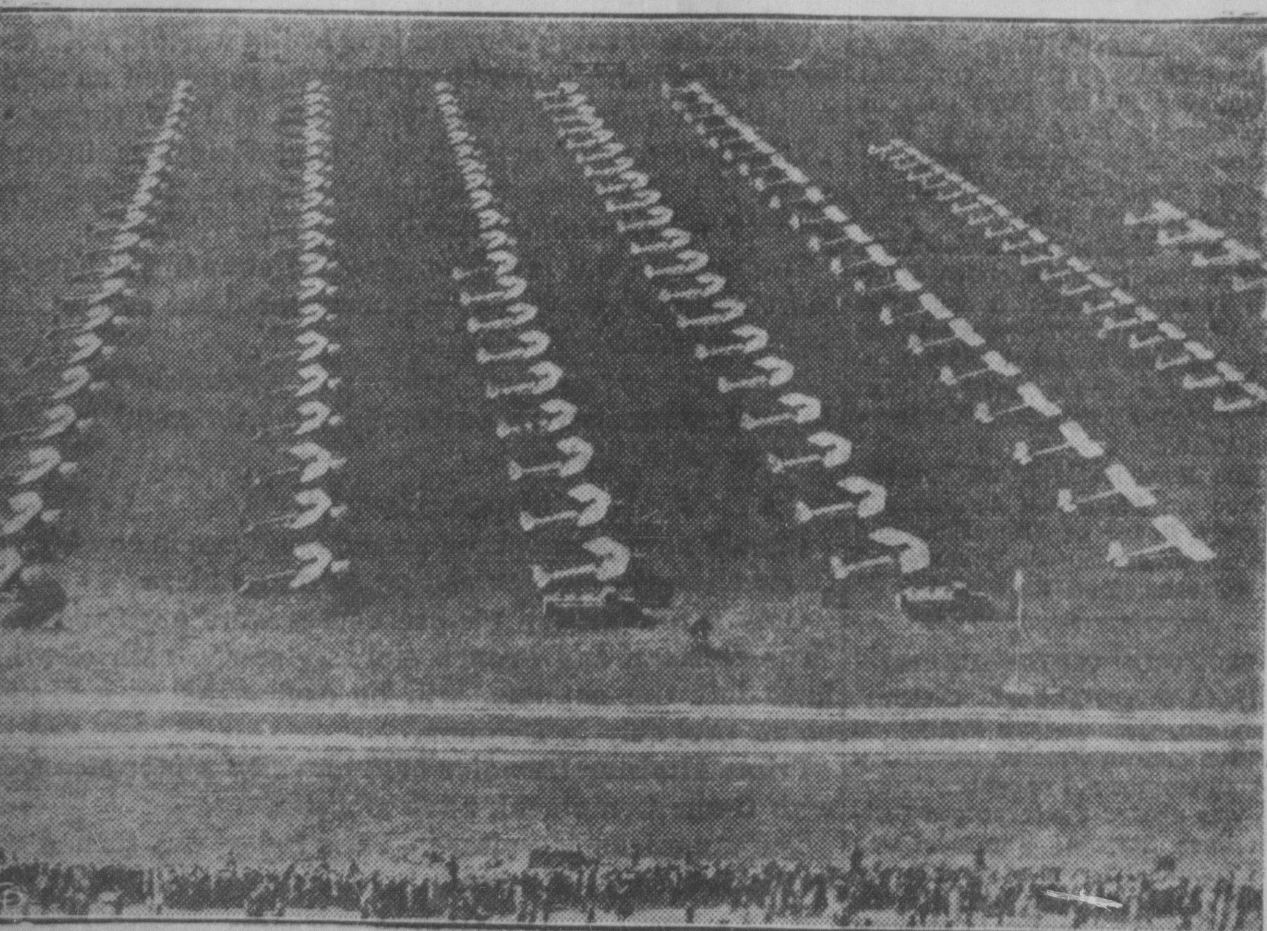

Washington Drills

Steve Shay at Washington C. H. is working 57 boys in preparation for his opener Sept. 15 with Frankfort. . . . That bugaboo circulated in Circleville concerning a 168-pound backfield and a 182-pound line at Washington can be marked off as inaccurate. . . . The big boys on the squad include Campbell, 190, tackle; Ruth, 185, tackle; Malone, back, 170; Rush, 185, tackle; Stewardson, 170, tackle; Reese, 170, tackle. . . . The other boys range from 165 down. . . . Merritt, Washington's great quarterback of last year, is gone. . . . Thank goodness. . . . Shay is assisted by Chick Milligan, who mentors the basketball team. . . .

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Hawthorne race track opened a 24-day meeting today. The inaugural program was headed by the $3,500 Labor Day Handicap, a six-furlong event for two-year-olds.

SOFTBALL TEAMS SPLIT

Circleville softball teams split doubleheaders in their playoff series Sunday afternoon, the Wallace-Glitt and Eshelman teams and Blue Ribbon and Purina teams being even in their card.

Bruins will complete the season's series between the two clubs.

Cincinnati's last home stand will be the most grueling test of the season. Because of rain that washed out engagements in the East and necessitated their transfer to Croesley Field, the Reds will be called on to play 23 games in 17 days, and at one stretch will play nine games in five days.

The Dodgers will be here September 12 and 13, and will be followed by the New York Giants. The Reds and Giants are to clash in successive double bills on September 14 and 15 and in a single game on the 16th. Then come the Boston Bees for doubleheaders on September 17 and 18.

Three single games with the Phils, starting on September 19, will supply a brief respite from double duty, but the twin bill men will be resumed when the Pittsburgh Pirates come here for doubleheaders on September 22 and 23, and a single game on the 24th.

Miss Leah Jean Wheat is spending the week with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rinehart of Reynoldsburg.

Mr. George B. Bochar spent from Thursday of last week until Sunday at Buckeye Lake. Mrs. Bochar and daughter, Miss Carolyn, and Mr. and Mrs. John Younger and Miss Kathleen Huffman of Cleveland, joined him on Sunday and spent the day.

Mr. Russell Wardell underwent an appendix operation at Grant Hospital, last week. He is recovering splendidly and expects to return to his home the last of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Luellen, Miss Mary Alice Luellen and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond French of Knights-town, Ind., attended the Zimmerman reunion at Gallipolis, Sunday.

The Williamsport School will open on Tuesday, September 5. The following persons will constitute the faculty during the ensuing term: A. W. Boyer, superintendent; Kenneth List, principal; Mrs. Ida Ware, English; Miss Mary McCollister, vocal music; James Diley, science; Miss Margaret Smith, commercial and Latin; Miss Dorothy Jackson, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Helen West, third and fourth grades; Miss Maribel Ater, second grade; Miss Twila West, first grade, and Paul Rose, instrumental music.

SINGLE MATCH BETWEEN U. S. AND DAVIS CUP

Australia's Visitors Go Home After Contests To Enter Army

By Lawton Carver HAVERFORD, Pa., Sept. 4.—The United States stood today within a single victory of retaining the Davis tennis cup against the challenge of Australia, but over the series hangs the pall of the European war and there won't be too much jubilation in our moment of triumph if we come through. Winners of both singles matches Saturday and losers in the doubles yesterday, the United States will emerge triumphant if either of today's concluding singles is won by the defenders, specifically Bobby Riggs, of Chicago, against Adrian Quist, or Frankie Parker, of Los Angeles, against Jack Bromwich.

However, when the Americans and the Australians make their final handshakes late today, they will be thinking beyond events of the moment. Within a few hours the Australians expect to be on their way home, Quist and Harry Hopman, non-playing captain, to report to the Sixth Battalion machine gun corps of Melbourne; Bromwich and Jack Crawford to be on hand for the call to which they are subject.

Still Have Chance In the meantime they still have a fighting chance to win the cup—but not much more than a fighting chance.

Rated 3 to 1 favorites at the start of the series on Saturday, the Australians now are 2 to 1 underdogs by virtue of the singles play of Riggs and Parker. The former beat Bromwich, 6-4, 6-0, 7-5, and Parker trimmed Quist 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5 in a combination upset that was almost unbelievable.

The Australians won in doubles yesterday. Bromwich and Quist defeated Joe Hunt, of the Annapolis Naval Academy, and Jack Kramer, of California, 5-7, 6-2, 7-5, 6-2, but still must sweep both singles today and none gave them more than an outside chance. Riggs, in fact, was expected to clinch the trophy in today's opening match at 2 o'clock, leaving the Parker-Bromwich finale as an empty formality.

Floyd Gibbons Drills For Bout With Walker

COLUMBUS, Sept. 4.—Floyd Gibbons, Columbus holder of the state heavyweight title, will defend his crown against another local product, undefeated Jack "Buddy" Walker, in a 10-round bout at Columbus Auditorium September 11. Under the direction of Matchmaker

Whitey Morrett, this bout will write a new chapter in Ohio fistic annals—the definite return to popularity of pugilism in this sport-mad realm.

Gibbons, training with Bob Pastor in Detroit at the moment, will be making his first defense of the championship awarded him as a result of his knockout victory over Frankie Simms of Cleveland. He will be facing a foe who has never been beaten or even knocked down, a savage battler who never had an amateur fight.

Walker's rapid rise during the last six months has been a feature of the Midwest. His win streak, now numbering nine, includes not less than seven knockouts, the sleep wallop having been landed on George Kirsch of Akron, Oscar Toles of Youngstown, Jack Lowe of San Francisco, Ed (Shelby) Murray of Cincinnati. Walker took easy round decisions from Paul Favors of Detroit and Charlie Belanger, the latter heavyweight champion of Canada.

Gibbons has dropped only one decision in his career, reversing that in a return match, and has taken 18 of his last 22 fights by the kayo route.

BUY FIRST HORSES

PASADENA, Cal. — For the first time in many years city officials were forced to buy a team of horses for the city farm—thereby striking a note of progress. Formerly, retired fire department horses were sent to the farm to work out their "board" while on pension. With no more fire horses and with the last team of fire department horses dead, it was necessary to buy a team.

It is one of the tragedies of life that quite often wrinkles come to the same head before wisdom does.

SINGLE MATCH BETWEEN U. S. AND DAVIS CUP

Australia's Visitors Go Home After Contests To Enter Army

By Lawton Carver

HAVERTY, Pa., Sept. 4.—The United States stood today within a single victory of retaining the Davis tennis cup against the challenge of Australia, but over the series hangs the pall of the European war and there won't be too much jubilation in our moment of triumph if we come through. Winners of both singles matches Saturday and losers in the doubles yesterday, the United States will emerge triumphant if either of today's concluding singles is won by the defenders, specifically Bobby Riggs, of Chicago, against Adrian Quist, or Frankie Parker, of Los Angeles, against Jack Bromwich.

However, when the Americans and the Australians make their final handshakes late today, they will be thinking beyond events of the moment. Within a few hours the Australians expect to be on their way home, Quist and Harry Hopman, non-playing captain, to report to the Sixth Battalion machine gun corps of Melbourne; Bromwich and Jack Crawford to be on hand for the call to which they are subject.

Still Have Chance
In the meantime they still have a fighting chance to win the cup—but not much more than a fighting chance.

Rated 3 to 1 favorites at the start of the series on Saturday, the Australians now are 2 to 1 underdogs by virtue of the singles play of Riggs and Parker. The former beat Bromwich, 6-4, 6-0, 7-5, and Parker trimmed Quist 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5 in a combination upset that was almost unbelievable.

The Australians won in doubles yesterday, Bromwich and Quist defeating Joe Hunt, of the Annapolis Naval Academy, and Jack Kramer, of California, 5-7, 7-5, 6-2, but still must sweep both singles today and none gave them more than an outside chance. Riggs, in fact, was expected to clinch the trophy in today's opening match at 2 o'clock, leaving the Parker-Bromwich finale as an empty formality.

SCRANTON STAR WINS HERSHEY GOLF TOURNEY

HERSHEY, Pa., Sept. 4.—Felix Serafin, of Scranton, Pa., was $1200 richer today, his reward for winning the Hershey Open golf tournament with an eight under par 284 for the 72 holes.

Jimmy Hines, of Great Neck, N. Y., and Ben Hogan, of White Plains, N. Y., tied for second money at 286.

Floyd Gibbons Drills For Bout With Walker

COLUMBUS, Sept. 4.—Floyd Gibbons, Columbus holder of the state heavyweight title, will defend his crown against another local product, undefeated Jack "Buddy" Walker, in a 10-round bout at Columbus Auditorium September 11. Under the direction of Matchmaker

Whitey Morrett, this bout will write a new chapter in Ohio fistic annals—the definite return to popularity of pugilism in this sport-mad realm.

Gibbons, training with Bob Pastor in Detroit at the moment, will be making his first defense of the championship awarded him as a result of his knockout victory over Frankie Simms of Cleveland. He will be facing a foe who has never been beaten or even knocked down, a savage battler who never had an amateur fight.

Walker's rapid rise during the last six months has been a feature of the Midwest. His win streak, now numbering nine, includes no less than seven knockouts, the sleep wallop having been landed on George Kirsch of Akron, Oscar Toles of Youngstown, Jack Lowe of San Francisco, Ed (Shelby) Murray of Cleveland, Tommy Carter of Cincinnati. Walker took easy ten round decisions from Paul Favors of Detroit and Charlie Belanger, the latter heavyweight champion of Canada.

Gibbons has dropped only one decision in his career, reversing that in a return match, and has taken 18 of his last 22 fights by the kayo route.

BUY FIRST HORSES

PASADENA, Cal., — For the first time in many years city officials were forced to buy a team of horses for the city farm—thereby striking a note of progress. Formerly, retired fire department horses were sent to the farm to work out their "board" while on pension. With no more fire horses and with the last team of fire department horses dead, it was necessary to buy a team.

It is one of the tragedies of life that quite often wrinkles come to the same head before wisdom does.

THE GANGSTER ISSUE

THE American people have wrestled with the gangster problem and apparently solved it. With us it was an individual problem—a question whether individuals of unsocial character and twisted mind should be allowed to live lives of crime and terrorize a population of normal and decent people.

Many hard-hitting American commentators in recent years, and especially of late, have applied the same term to European heads of government who use typical gangster methods on a national and international scale. The statesman most often referred to in this way at present is Fuehrer Hitler. The British journalist, H. Wickham Stead, said the other day in an article in the New York Herald-Tribune on the present European situation:

"The real issue is simple and should never be lost sight of. It is whether heavily armed gangsters in the form of totalitarian dictatorships can dominate the ordered freedom of representative institutions, and whether the reign of law shall prevail in the world. The British are convinced that there can be no peace worthy of the name with the gangsters."

Naturally Americans tend to go along with that view.

DACHSHUND NO NAZI!

AN Englishman has written a letter to the London Times asking cartoonists to quit making the dachshund the symbol of the German nation.

"Absurd as it may seem," he says, "the prevalence of this idea in the popular imagination has produced real risk of thoughtless acts of cruelty being committed against harmless little animals which are English by birth and often by generations of breeding."

It is hard to believe that Britishers, adults or children, have taken to kicking dachshunds around just because artists have used them in anti-Nazi cartoons. The dachshund, to people who don't mind his sausage shape, has long been recognized as a very fine animal, intelligent and friendly. Although it was introduced into England from Germany, the dachshund is a very ancient breed. There is one pictured on an Egyptian monument of the period 2000 B. C., which gives this dog a longer existence already than Hitler predicts for the Nazi regime.

No wonder the Poles hold out stubbornly against Hitler. Since the Czech surrender, they're afraid of being bossed by somebody with a title like Reichsprotektor Baron Konstantin von Neurath.

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

DIPLOMATIC dope from Europe hints that Benito Mussolini is not much better suited with the reich-soviet bargain than Britain and France are. Official Berlin accounts are to the effect that Herr Hitler kept II Duce informed all along concerning the progress of his negotiations with Dictator Stalin. Democratic governments' observers doubt it, however. Or, they say, if Adolf really did keep Mussolini posted, it's a cinch that the latter must have objected furiously, but Der Fuehrer went right ahead with his program anyway.

There are various reasons why this conclusion is arrived at. In the first place, all along Benito is positively known to have argued that Danzig wasn't worth a war. From Italy's standpoint reich does get the Free City and the Polish Corridor? What good will that do the Italians? Yet they'll be expected to help Germany do its fighting.

Furthermore, Der Fuehrer has had all the best of his tieup with II Duce hitherto. Germany, as a result of this compact, has acquired a deal of very juicy territory in central Europe, and will get a lot more of it if it succeeds in gobbling the bulk of Poland—after which it will grab more yet in the Balkans. Italy's share has consisted in the questionably valuable Ethiopian area and unimportant little Albania. The Italians didn't get any German aid in Ethiopia or Albania, either. They didn't need any, to be sure. Still, they didn't get any. Now they're expected to assist the Nazis physically and financially in connection with the Polish situation.

It seems one-sided.

PLAYED FOR A SUCKER

Then again, it appears so obvious that Herr Hitler has played Signor Mussolini for a sucker. Adolf has substantial results to show for his policies, naturally making him solid with his countrymen. Benito's results have been so skimpy that their inadequacy can't but have been noticeable even in fascistized censored Italy, necessarily weakening his dictatorship.

It's all the more aggravating, inasmuch as Mussolini was a big shot when Hitler was scarcely invented. Today Adolf is the heavyweight champion and Benito is a bantam.

Such personal considerations enter into the equation as between dictators. At least, diplomats say they do.

Briefly, Benito is alleged to be jealous of Adolf.

GERMANY'S POSITION PRETTY GOOD

Incidentally, with Russia pacified, the Germans are mulling independent of outside butters-in. The English fleet can work up Germany's Baltic coast, cutting off its supplies from that direction, but Germany can get all the raw materials it needs from Russia and do all the manufacturing necessary in its own interior. But Italy is bottled up in the Mediterranean. The Italian navy isn't strong enough to cope with France's sea strength, let alone what additional support English ships can give to it.

Italy hasn't a formidable defense against France even on their land frontier. The Italians have closed it against the French already.

Germany is tolerably well fixed. Plus an outlet by way of the Pacific, through Russia and China (maybe), Hitler can get approximately anywhere he wants to. Italy's corked up in the Mediterranean. This is fine as to the Italians, while Hitler and Russia want to be friendly with the Italians—but how long'll that be?

Maybe they presently will disagree with Italy. Their interests conflict. It can change the whole situation in a minute.

GERMANY VIA JAPAN

That Germany wants the Pacific—that's the nub of it.

There may be a clash any old German-Italian time. No, there won't be a clash. They won't vehemently disagree. But the Italians may simply allege that they disagree.

But who cares?—in this country? Communistic? Fascistic? Nazi? What-not? Foo?istic?

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN.

DIGGING UNCOVERS CHAMPION

WASHINGTON—Sweet and tempting is the taste of nepotism and few are the politicians who can resist its lure.

Whether Republicans or Democrats, big shots or little shots, they go for it like a schoolboy for the jam pot. With some it becomes a regular avocation, such as: Representative Lex Green of Florida, famed for his invariable black Windsor tie, his one-time chairmanship of the Committee for the Disposition of Useless Executive papers, and a eulogy of the Washington Fire Department which consisted of 700 words divided into only three sentences. Here is the roll-call of Lex's relatives on the government payroll:

Reif Johns, brother-in-law, rural mail carrier, $2,380.

George Johns, nephew, postmaster at Lake Butler, Fla., $1,700.

Yancey Harris, brother-in-law, clerk in the Public Buildings Division, $1,440.

Charles Harris, brother-in-law, PWA clerk, $1,260.

Other politicians are more discreet and only nibble at the gravy bowl, such as:

Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan presidential white hope, whose son, Arthur, Jr., draws $3,900 as a congressional secretary, and, incidentally, is a hard worker.

Senator Bob Reynolds, North Carolina's ebullient alien-baiter, whose son, Robert, Jr., receives $3,200 as an attorney in the Anti-Trust Division. (He has the reputation of doing a good job.)

Representative C. Jasper Bell of Missouri, whose son Jack gets $2,460 as chief clerk of the House Folding Room.

Representative Martin Dies, chairman of the un-Americanism committee, whose nephew, Harry Burns, receives $1,740 as a House doorkeeper.

Representative Fred C. Gilchrist of Iowa, whose married daughter, Mrs. Mavis Allen, draws $2,500 as a congressional secretary.

Representative William A. Ashbrook of Ohio, who has a 16-year-old son, William, Jr., on the payroll at $1,450 as a House page.

AMBASSADORIAL BAPTISM

When the new British Ambassador, Lord Lothian, paid his first call at the State Department, he went through a baptism of fire from news cameras. He and the French Ambassador, Count de Saint-Quentin, happened to meet in the diplomatic waiting-room, and the cameramen scrambled madly.

"Move over this way, please," said a movie man.

Americans are getting the idea. Our port authorities in New York simply went through those German ships with "German thoroughness."

States are not only political; they're also states of mind. Look at Massachusetts, Florida and California, for example.

DIET AND HEALTH

What Can Harm An Unborn Child?

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

EXPECTANT mothers are reminded all too often by well-meaning neighbors that they should eat for two. This sounds like good advice, but a little consideration should convince anyone that it is superficial.

Granted that there is another human being to nourish. Its needs are not great, and certainly not comparable to the mother's needs in the way of food.

The expectant mother is confronted with a list of required intake that looks like a mining operation—iron, manganese, phosphorus, calcium and iodine; all these must go to the building of the new body. And, of course, the vitamins.

I feel about this as I do about all dietary problems, which is that our normal diet is quite adequate and sufficient. Hunger is a very efficient guide. If the expectant mother is hungry, she should satisfy her appetite. Her hunger means that the unborn baby needs more nourishment.

The diet recommended for the expectant mother, according to the best modern scientific requirements, is about as follows:

Breakfast
Cod Liver Oil Orange Juice
Whole Grain Cereal, Milk
Toast Soft Boiled Egg
Cocoa

SQUEEZE VARIATIONS

THOUGH THERE are many varieties of squeezes, all of them embody the principle that a particular player is obliged to make a discard which will unguard a particular suit, or another which will build up a card in some other suit. Most of them come on the eleventh trick, but some of them occur a trick or two earlier, and some of them even consist of a series of one squeeze after another. The simplest departure from the standard squeeze patterns comes when the squeeze is merely on a trick earlier than the eleventh.

For Monday September 4

MONDAY's astrological forecast is for a most stirring and eventful day, with marked favors or promotion from employers or superiors. Emphasis is on the social, domestic or affectional life, where there may be happy climax in courtship or marriage. Testimonies of duplicity are shown.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively year, with promotion probable. There also may be courtship or marriage for the youthful or eligible. But be alert to betrayal or deception. A child born on this day may be capable, ambitious and favored by its superiors. It should have an monds, which West doubled. West led the diamond A, then another diamond to the K. South cashed a third diamond, took in two high clubs, then made a Vienna coup to build a squeeze by taking the heart A, thus setting up West's two honors. Next he took the club Q and led two more diamonds. When the last was played, he also held three hearts and a spade. Dummy had his four spades and the diamond J. Unfortunate West had to discard either his heart K, making dummy's J good, or one of his remaining four spades, setting up dummy's fourth one. This was a true forward squeeze on a trick earlier than the usual eleventh one.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

"I'M GLAD I took you up on your proposition to come out here, Lorena, for two main reasons," Shot Rogers was saying. "First is, I get a chance to keep company with you a lot, without anybody butting in. Second is, I was beginning to feel like there really was spies at Brazee's home, and this way we can sort of test out and see."

"Shot, I know there are spies! I'm sure of it!"

"Who do you know? How?"

"I mean—in my heart. I just know."

"Um. So do I, I guess."

"Do you? Whom do you suspect, Shot?" Lorena looked at him in deadly earnest.

"Never mind, yet. If I told you, you'd likely get mad, or feel bad. And I don't want to hurt you. Anyway, I might be wrong."

"I do believe we are thinking the same thing, Shot."

"Maybe so. Anyway, it's good light now. Let's crawl to the edge yonder and look down. Now don't stand up, and crawl very slowly, so your motions won't attract attention. You got any jewelry—anything shiny on, that might catch a sun glint?"

She left her wrist watch in the pack, hidden among some rocks and shrubs. There was a gemmed ring which she took off, too, and a shiny buckle. Then they moved with stealthy caution to the edge of their high promontory. Shot was holding the field glasses and he hunched against a stone to steady himself in the breeze while he peered intently down.

"These are good glasses," he declared. "I can see plenty of stock down there. Some that I can't see with naked eyes. . . . And Lorena, I can see the Ghost river forks plain. The three forks come together within a quarter-mile of each other, as I told you. See down there?"

"See, the east fork is dry."

"She verified what he had told her. The glasses could follow the main river bed intermittently for two miles, and each of the three branches for a little way. Two branches had water; silvery, mirror-like water. The other was dry. Mountains reared their heads obtrusively around them, and Shot pointed out several passes nearer the river level whence cows had been driven. One pass led to the hemp pasture, over beyond a looming hill. It was there that Escobar had made two or three successful sallies already, Shot said.

"It's like an eagle's aerie up here," Lorena declared. "There's something so satisfactory and inspiring about being on a height, isn't there?"

"Yup. Me, I'd often figured some day to build me a house on a hill. A ranch house. I'd feel important in it, if I could look out my front door away down at a lot of territory."

"Yes," Lorena agreed.

"You slip back to the packs now and lie down on them and rest, Lorena. Shade your eyes and sleep. I'll stand guard. I'll call you if I need anything."

"I'm not sleepy."

"Go on and try it! you had a hard walk and no sleep."

Contrary to her statement, she fell asleep at once when she had pillowed her head on the pack there among the rocks. She really was fatigued.

Shot crept back once and looked down at her, then went back to his outpost. He was fidgeting a little because of the inactive duty he had. He liked to be up and doing things. He'd rather engage Mr. Escobar in a gun duel than just sit here and try to spy on him.

But then he had tried the other with no luck. He'd wait.

Lorena awoke at a quarter of one.

She was surprised and apologetic for sleeping the six long hours, even though she felt infinitely better. He smiled fondly at her and told her she would make a good pioneer. She proved she was modern, however, by rummaging in her own pack for a compact and comb and "touching up" herself then and there. When she was done Shot told her she looked perfect, and he wasn't exaggerating much if any. She did look adorable: fresh and youthful and clean. She gazed over at him with a what-now expression, ready for anything the afternoon might bring.

"Not a daggone thing's happened," he declared. "You can come and be sentry for a while, though, while I stretch out."

He crawled to change places with her, then he immediately crawled back.

"First call to lunch," said he, smiling. "Also last call. Swallow this sandwich, miss, and don't let me hear you complain. And there's an apple for you."

They hunched near each other in some luxurious buck brush that grew on the promontory, eating and talking like college students might have done. The stern man-look that Shot Rogers could show at times was completely missing now.

"How old are you, Shot?" she suddenly asked him.

"Sixteen."

"No. Really."

"Why, uh, just call me Shot. Everybody does."

"Are you ashamed of your name?"

"No! Not none—not any. I'm not. It's Archibald Lorenzo Rogers. My mother named me."

"Why don't people call you that? Some of it, anyway."

"They don't know it. I used to be Lorenzo, but you are the only man in Arizona that knows all of it. Woman, I mean. Or man, either."

"Then you trust me! I'm complimentary."

"You are not a—tease, or a—a—well, a—"

"I understand, Shot." She smiled sweetly at him. "But it's a grand name, really, and you can be proud of it. When you get a little older, Shot won't be your first choice."

Because she was through eating then, she idly lifted the glasses to her eyes and focussed them. She swept them in a slow panorama, looking down. And all at once her movement stopped.

"Shot!" she whispered, as if somebody might hear. "Shot!"

"Hunh? What is it, Lorena?"

"I think they've come. There are riders, driving cows!"

He took the glasses and, refocused, trained them as he stared intently at what she had seen. By straining she could see enough with her naked eyes.

For a half hour they did not speak at all, save as he murmured description of the drivers' progress. They were Mexicans. They numbered at least 20 men. They had 50 to 60 head of cattle ahead of them, as near as he could judge. And, yes, again they were approaching the river.

The stock were driven into the water and turned upstream. Shot and Lorena saw them approach the west fork and avoid it, saw them driven on by the middle fork, too. Shot's mouth dropped open. His head and Lorena's

There was an unusual number of the younger crowd, which will be broken up shortly by the opening of college, for which the dance served as a farewell party.

The club lounge and veranda were reserved for the use of the dancers for the evening. The colorful summer frocks of the dancers made a gay picture in the Old Barn as they danced the hours of the night away.

Several out-of-town guests were

30 Invited
To Formal
Dinner Fete

Mrs. Charles G. Shulze of 316 South Court Street was hostess at a formal dinner Saturday at 7:30 P. M. for the pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Groom of Park Place.
Thirty friends of Mr. and Mrs.
Groom were entertained preceding the Country Club Dance, the group going on to that affair after the dinner hour.

The rooms of the Shulze home were never more attractive than Saturday when summer flowers in tasteful arrangement were used in the decorations. Two large white pottery vases, the one filled with fluffy lavender asters and the other with rose and white gompheena, were in the living room, petunias in shades of lavender and purple filling the vase in the hall.

Cocktails were served in the dining room as the guests gathered around the smorgasbord before dinner. A silver bowl filled with deep rose buds and baby breath tinted dark blue, centered the table, with a silver platter of tuberous rooted begonia blossoms and dahlias in shades of coral, completing the decorations.

The four course dinner was served the thirty guests at one large table set on the screened side porch. A beautiful silver epergne filled with white clematis and white petunias centered the table, massive five branched silver chandelabra with tall ivory tapers furnishing the soft light at either end. Silver service and rock crystal completed the appointments of the table which was covered with a beautiful Venetian point cloth. The decorative silver pieces are family heirlooms of Mrs. Shulze.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Groom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Musser, Mr. and Mrs. John W.
Eshelman, Mr. and Mrs. J. I.
Smith, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. G. D.
Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heffner, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grant,
Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Weldon, Mr.

tractive groupings.

Miss Harriet Lichty, organist, played several selections before the Lohengrin "Wedding March" when the bridal party approached the altar.

The bride wore a tailored suit of wool in a soft shade of Hunter's green, with a shoulder corsage of white gardenias. Her accessories were brown.

Only members of the immediate families were present for the service.

Mr. Manchester and his bride left, after a reception at Hotel Logan, for a motor trip. They will reside near Roundhead where the groom will engage in farming on the Manchester lands.

SCHOOL DAZE!

The children are back at school this week—but it's Mother who suffers most from the change. First-grade Mary needs a whole new wardrobe—grown-up clothes for a suddenly grown-up baby. Jimmy's vacation outfit—entirely bathing suits—won't do for the classroom, and he's grown completely out of last year's suits and shirts.
Mother has to do a lot of buying, but the budget says,
"Watch every penny!"—and that means a lot of shopping around. No wonder Mother's in a daze!

But many people are helping her. All the stores are featuring school clothes and school supplies in their advertising. Instead of going from store to store, Mother can sit down (for once) and do her shopping right in this newspaper's advertising columns. Everything's there—and a quick glance through the advertisements tells her just what she wants—and at the price she wants to pay.

Eleanor J. Brown And Robert Bausum Marry

Lutheran Church
In Ashville
Vow Scene

Social Calendar

Wearing a smart autumn frock of wine crushed velvet accented with a corsage of white orchids Miss Eleanor Jane Brown of Ashville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown of that community, became the bride of Mr. Robert Allen Bausum, Saturday at 8:30 P. M. They repeated their nuptial vows in the parsonage of the First English Lutheran Church of Ashville, the Rev. H. D. Fudge reading the single ring ceremony.

The brides street length dress was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and she wore matching accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brown of Columbus, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, attended the couple, Mrs. Brown wearing a plum colored frock with black accessories and a corsage of mixed flowers.

Others present for the service were Miss Doris Leist, Miss Dorothy Hartman, Mr. Nelson Warner and Mr. Lloyd Wardell, close friends of bride and bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown, parents of the bride, received the bridal party after the wedding at their home, where they entertained informally. Late supper was served at one long and two small tables set in the dining room. Lovely arrangements of flowers and candles, the work of Mrs. Bausum, mother of the bridegroom, centered the tables.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Bausum, parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, parents of the bride, Mr. Wayne Bausum, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Hedges, Miss Florence Brown, Mr. Charles Brown of Ashville; Miss Doris Leist, Mr. Nelson Warner of Pickaway Township; Miss Dorothy Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brown of Columbus and Mr. Lloyd Wardell of Williamsport.

The new Mrs. Bausum is a graduate of Walnut Township High School, class of 1935, and Office Training School, Columbus, where for the last two and one-half years she has been employed at the Columbus Blank Book Mfg. Co.

Mr. Bausum, also a 1935 graduate of Walnut School, is associated with the Wilson Seed and Floral Co., Columbus.

After their return home from a brief wedding trip through the northern part of the state, they will reside in their newly furnished apartment, 1011½ Dennison Avenue, Columbus.

Presbyterian Missionary Society
The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church will meet Friday at 2:30 P. M. in the social room for its first autumn meeting.

Tuxis Club
The Tuxis Club of the Presbyterian Church will meet after choir practice in the social room. Election of officers will be held and plans for fall and winter meetings discussed.

Buffet Supper
Mrs. John Blosser was hostess to a group of Circleville friends at a buffet supper Saturday evening honoring the guests from Saegerstown and Meadville, Pa., whom she entertained at the Blosser cabin, Pickaway Township, over the week end. The affair was held at the home of her father, Dr. D. V. Courtright, and the party completed the evening at the holiday dance at the Pickaway Country Club.

Mrs. Blosser's guests were Mr. and Mrs. David Straw, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, Saegerstown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Miller, Miss Katherine Moore and John Shanley, Meadville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Vattier Courtright of Chillicothe; Dr. and Mrs. Burt N. Kelsey, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Adkins, Jr., Dr. Courtright, David and George Dudley Courtright of Circleville and Scott Eagleson of Hamilton.

Sunday, this same group, Mr. and Mrs. George Banning of Columbus and a few additional Circleville guests enjoyed a picnic at Tar Hollow.

Pickaway Country Club Dance
With many holiday week end visitors present for the dance at the Pickaway Country Club, the affair Saturday night successfully closed the series of summer dances. As on previous occasions, the music of Ernie McKay's eight piece dance band presented a program of new music, his girl vocal-

The children are back at school this week—but it's Mother who suffers most from the change. First-grade Mary needs a whole new wardrobe—grown-up clothes for a suddenly grown-up baby. Jimmy's vacation outfit—entirely bathing suits—won't do for the classroom, and he's grown completely out of last year's suits and shirts. Mother has to do a lot of buying, but the budget says, "Watch every penny!"—and that means a lot of shopping around. No wonder Mother's in a daze!

But many people are helping her. All the stores are featuring school clothes and school supplies in their advertising. Instead of going from store to store, Mother can sit down (for once) and do her shopping right in this newspaper's advertising columns. Everything's there—and a quick glance through the advertisements tells her just what she wants—and at the price she wants to pay.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

"Hey wait a minute, give the stills a chance!"

"Just put your hand up as if you were talking to him."

"Pete, keep your head down!"

The flashlights popped, and the two obliging diplomats put on a pantomime of chatting. One cameraman hopped up on the oak table for a better angle. A dozen others worked from the front, and at all levels.

V. A. L. Mallet, an Embassy official who attended Lothian, looked uncomfortable, as if "these fellows" were overdoing it. But Lothian and Count de Saint-Quentin were good sports.

"Now look at each other," "Get in close." "Will you move in, please? There's not much light."

"Stand shoulder to shoulder, please."

Finally "Summy" Summerlin, chief of State Department Protocol, stepped up to impressario Tony Muto of Fox Movietone, and said, "That's enough, Tony."

The crowd broke up. Left behind was debris in the form of 22 blown flashlight bulbs strewn over the blue plush carpet and the sofa—where the next diplomat would sit.

Later a better plan was evolved.
The brand new 10,000-ton British cruiser Berwick had been basking in New England waters, where natty English officers beamed wealthy American debutantes.
Suddenly the Berwick disappeared — destination unknown.

That destination can now be revealed. At the present writing the Berwick is pacing the Bremen across the Atlantic, ready to pounce on her minute Hitler unleashes the war dogs.

It was decided that there was no use holding the big liner in New York when the British could take her, if war broke, at sea.

Two Columbus autoists, one of whom is painfully hurt, were taken to Berger Hospital early Sunday after their automobile missed a curve on Route 23 just north of Gold Cliff Park and overturned.

The car, a 1936 Ford 2-door, was wrecked.

Injured were:
Ernest Jackson, 20, 1090 West
Broad Street, cuts on left arm, back and other bruises.

Cecil D. Dudley, 31, 712 1/2 West Rich Street, cuts and bruises. Dudley was the driver of the car.

Both men were taken to the hospital in the Rinehart ambulance and were treated by Dr.

ler Fissell, who investigated, said no other automobile was involved in the accident. The car was moving south.

DOUBLE DOUBLE-CROSS

U. S. Army and Navy observers have persistent reports that part of the Soviet-Nazi deal is the sending of 20,000 Russian divisions against Poland to help
Germany if necessary.

How true this is cannot be definitely ascertained in this day of secret dictator diplomacy. But how worried over Russia are the French and British is illustrated by a call which the retiring British Ambassador paid on the State Department to explain that his government, long at swords' points with the Japanese, now was trying frantically to negotiate a deal.

London, he explained, was taking advantage of Japanese surprise and chagrin over Hitler's double-crossing them with Russia.
The British therefore proposed to patch things up with the Japanese by recognizing many of their claims in China, in return for which they want Japan to mass an army against Siberia.

Simultaneously the German-Russian front is working just as frantically to keep Japan from deserting them, and that is why ratification of the Nazi alliance by the Supreme Soviet was held up. Stalin is exacting his last pound of flesh by getting his new Nazi friend to whip Japan back into line. The proposed Soviet-Nazi deal would give Japan a free hand in China, in return for which Japan would bury her old hatchet with Russia and give the Soviet a chance to concentrate on Poland—if necessary.

It is all a cutthroat race in diplomatic double-crossing, in which the only nation sure to be left on a limb is the United States.

NOTE—The United States has been consistently for a free China.
Only a few days ago Great Britain, harping on that policy, was coveting U. S. support for Britain against Japan.

CAPITAL HEARS AMRINE TO TAKE PEN FARM POST

COLUMBUS, Sept. 4—William F. Amrine, state superintendent of corrections, will take over his former duties as superintendent of the London Prison Farm next Tuesday, it was learned today from a reliable resource.

Reports that a shake-up of the institution's personnel was contemplated by the Bricker administration have been current since Superintendent Thomas C. Jenkins last week requested a leave of absence for six months because of illness.

Welfare Director Charles L.
Sherwood has not acted on Jenkins' request, and he has declined to discuss rumors of a proposed change at the farm. However, it was learned today that he planned to make an "important announcement" next Tuesday about the institution.

The welfare chief has admitted he conducted an investigation of the farm, from which 14 convicts have escaped within the past month.

It was not learned whether Amrine would assume the duties of superintendent permanently or until a successor could be appointed, as in the case of Ohio penitentiary, where he was acting warden until Brig. Gen. Frank D.
Henderson was named head of the prison recently.

Amrine served as superintendent of the farm for several years until he resigned during an altercation with the administration of former Gov. Martin L. Davey.

SIXTY WITNESSES CALLED TO INVESTIGATE 26 CRIMINAL CHARGES

KNIFE WIELDING, HIT-SKIP DEATH GO BEFORE JURY

Seven Assault And Battery, Five Bad Check Counts Up For Consideration

15 VENIREMEN SUMMONED

September Term Of Court Opens Tuesday; Numerous Complaints Checked

Sixty witnesses have been called by Prosecutor George E. Gerhardt for the session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury to open Tuesday morning. About 26 cases are listed for consideration.

One case scheduled for the jury is that of Charles Burkirk, 70, South Scioto Street, charged with stabbing with intent to kill Elmer Merriman, 39, of Town Street, an extra police officer on August 6. Mr. Merriman suffered a chest wound.

It is probable the jury will consider evidence uncovered this week in the hit-skip death of Stanford Burris, 33, of Harrison Township on Route 23 last December 3. Edward Writese, 17, of Columbus, an inmate of the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster has been named driver of the car by two youths under arrest in Columbus for auto thefts. Writese has admitted to the prosecutor that a stolen car he was driving was involved in an accident. Burris was found dying in a ditch after the wreck.

Seven cases for the jury charge assault and battery, five bad checks, three are for driving when intoxicated, one for concealed weapons, one for non-support, three for larceny, two for burglary and larceny, one for breaking and entering, and one for driving with a false driver's license.

COUNTY NATIVE DEAD AT HOME IN CHILLICOTHE

Funeral services were held Monday in Chillicothe for Henry Reichelderfer, 76, a native of Pickaway County, who died Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. M. McCollister in Chillicothe.

Mr. Reichelderfer had resided in Chillicothe for six years. He farmed for many years in Pickaway County, retiring in 1929.

He was the son of Enos and Maria Poe Reichelderfer and was born in Pickaway County on July 13, 1866. His wife, Della Rush Reichelderfer, preceded him in death.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Estella McCollister and Mrs. Eva Darling, both of Chillicothe; four sons, Arthur and Joseph, of Chillicothe, and Marvin and Eugene, of Ashville; one sister, Mrs. Minnie Morris, of Lewistown; one brother, Eugene, of Granville and four grandchildren.

STUNT BY AUTOS INJURES 11 AT MARION GROUNDS

MARION, Sept. 4—A 60-year-old Marion woman was reported in critical condition and 10 other persons were recovering from less serious injuries today, the result of an auto-collision stunt that "missed fire."

The accident occurred at the Marion County fairgrounds where a "thrill circus," sponsored by the Marion Central Labor Union, had attracted a crowd of 10,000 persons. When two automobiles, scheduled to crash head-on with their drivers jumping just before the collision, failed to meet, one car struck the railing in front of the grandstand.

Cabinet Called By F. D.

scious public weighed President Roosevelt's evaluation of American neutrality—particularly in contrast to Woodrow Wilson's statement 25 years ago at the outbreak of the World War that "we must be impartial in thought as well as in action."

Mr. Roosevelt said to the radio public of the world: "This nation will remain a neutral nation, but I cannot ask that every American remain neutral in thought as well. Even a neutral has a right to take account of facts. Even a neutral cannot be asked to close his mind or his conscience."

"I hope the United States will keep out of this war. I believe that it will. And I give you assurance and reassurance that every effort of your government will be directed to that end."

The President significantly pointed out that "unfortunate events of these recent years have been based on the use of force or the threat of force," obviously referring to Germany's repeated annexations of territory leading up to what he called "the invasion of Poland by Germany."

Future Affected

He said that "passionately though we may desire detachment, we are forced to realize that every word that comes through the air, every ship that sails the sea, every battle that is fought does affect the American future."

In announcing he was having a neutrality proclamation prepared, President Roosevelt delivered what many observers considered a direct admonition to the congress which is about to be called back into special session.

"I trust that in the days to come our neutrality can be made a true neutrality," he said.

French Report First Hostilities On Front

and new war measures were taken by the government. Stock markets were ordered closed for the afternoon in order to halt any spectacular rises in speculative issues. Inflationary movements in general were feared.

Closed for a time when France yesterday declared war on Germany, the French-Italian frontier along the narrow strip of Rivera coast-line was reopened to normal traffic today.

France's declaration of war, made at 1 P. M. (Circleville time) brought the immediate recall of Ambassador Robert Coulondre from Berlin. Today, according to the Petit Parisien, French interests in the Reich were turned over to the United States embassy, which is in charge of Alexander C. Kirk, counselor.

Sidi Ahmed Bey, who sits on the throne of Tunis, today pledged to the French resident-general, Armand Guillon, the "attachment" of his North African country to France. Tunis is one of the areas whose "return" was demanded by Italy.

On the Maginot Line, France's chain of underground fortresses and pillboxes, and on the Limes, or Siegfried Line, Germany's "west wall," millions of men confronted each other, but whether there has been any actual fighting yet has not been disclosed.

The fact that France declared war eight hours after her ally, Great Britain, was explained by the fact that France, being nearer to Germany, could place her military forces into action much more quickly.

Gamelin In Charge

(Predictions of the war's strategy said Britain would send a small, but highly mobilized and fast-moving land expeditionary force to France, while concentrating on aerial and naval warfare. The land forces are to be under command of Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of the French defense general staffs. Britons are to head the combined naval and air forces.)

In delivering word of France's vital decision to the nation, Premier Daladier said Chancellor Hitler deliberately "chose" the war.

"Since Sept. 1," he said, "Poland has been the victim of brutal aggression. Responsibility for the blood that is being spilled rests on Hitler's government."

"Hitler had it in his hand to decide between peace and war. He chose war."

Before demanding his passports, Ambassador Coulondre told Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop in Berlin that Germany assumed "heavy responsibility in engaging in hostilities against Poland with no declaration of war, and without replying to the suggestions of the British and French governments."

By way of Belgium, 130 members of the staff of the German embassy enfiladed for home last night at 11:08 o'clock. A number of French mobile guards, bearing rifles, were mounted on the train.

MANY OF COUNTY SCHOOLS START CLASSES AGAIN

Muhlenberg District to Monroe District. Under provisions made by the Muhlenberg Township Board of Education the Darbyville school will be operated as a grade school.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, announced Monday that an allotment of $168 a month has been granted Pickaway county for student aid under the National Youth Administration program. Mr. McDowell is county chairman under the program.

This allotment provides aid for 28 students. The program gives needy students an opportunity to obtain part time employment in school offices and libraries and doing other work in the schools. The maximum amount per week for each student is $1.50. So far there have been 26 requests for student aid.

BRITISH CLAIM ONLY THOSE HIT BY BLAST DEAD

More Than 300 Americans On Refugee Steamer In Hebrides District

gone to the bottom. It was assumed the torpedoing was the work of a German U-boat.

The United States embassy announced that the approximate total of Americans aboard was 311, although final figures may prove to be somewhat less. The International News Service correspondent at Glasgow reported that except for those killed by the detonation, all of the 1,400 persons aboard had taken to lifeboats "and in many cases were picked up by vessels hurrying to the scene."

Immediate fate of the passengers could not be ascertained, nor could the length of time the Athenia remained afloat after the torpedo tore through her vitals.

Brief Report Received

A brief announcement by the admiralty stated: "S. S. Athenia, 1,400 passengers on board, reported to the Admiralty she had been torpedoed 200 miles west of the Hebrides."

The Hebrides are a group of sparsely populated islands lying off the northwest coast of Scotland.

The torpedoing, first assault on a merchant liner since Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced yesterday that Britain was at war with Germany, apparently came with dramatic suddenness.

The Athenia's SOS and a few brief messages crackling through the ether, brought word to London girded at last for lengthy conflict that 100 American college girls, returning home after a pleasure tour of Europe, were aboard.

Many of the passengers were Canadian refugees returning to safety across the Atlantic.

Before the press association flashed its bulletin that the large liner, hastily reconditioned and rushed into service to aid evacuation of non-combatants from danger zone, had gone to the bottom not far from the spot where the Cunard liner Laurentic (not to be confused with the present vessel of the same name) sank in 1917, latest word stated that rescue ships were rushing to the scene.

Many Lifeboats Available

The Athenia, operated by the Donaldson-Atlantic Company of Glasgow and enroute to Montreal, carried enough lifeboats to accommodate approximately 1,800 persons. Apparently everything depended on the length of warning given, if any, and the time that elapsed between the time the torpedo struck and the ship settled.

United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy immediately flashed word of the disaster to President Roosevelt.

The Athenia, a steel twin-screw liner built in 1923, was 526 feet in length, with a beam of 66 feet and a 38 foot draught. She left her home port of Glasgow for Montreal at noon on Friday, calling at Belfast and Liverpool to pick up freight. The last her owners heard of her following her clearance from Glasgow at 4:30 P. M. Friday was the dread SOS telling of the first maritime disaster of a new World War less than 24 hours old.

Circleville men who are members of the Service Battery, 136th Field Artillery, are expected home Tuesday from Fort Knox, Ky.

Reports were circulated in Circleville Monday that the battery would not return as scheduled as the camp period had been extended for 30 days. Wives of members of the unit said they had received no information of that kind. They believed that if any change had been made they would have been notified.

"The proposals were never shown to the Poles, nor to us. And though they were announced in the German broadcast on Thursday night, Hitler did not wait to hear comments on them, but ordered his troops to cross the Polish frontier the next morning."

"His action shows convincingly that there is no chance of expecting that this man will give up his practice of using force to gain his will."

"He can only be stopped by force, and we and France are today, in fulfillment of our obligations, going to the aid of Poland who is so bravely resisting this deliberate and unprovoked attack on her people."

"We have a clear conscience."

Situation Intolerable

"We have done all any country could do to establish peace, but a situation in which no word given by Germany's ruler could be trusted and no people or country could endure has become intolerable, and now that we have resolved to finish it, I know that you will all play your part with calmness and courage."

"At such a moment as this, the assurances of support which we have received from the empire are a source of profound encouragement to us."

"When I finish speaking, certain detailed announcements will be made on behalf of the government. Please give your close attention. The government have made plans under which it will be possible to carry on the work of the nation in the days of stress and strain that may be ahead."

"These plans need your help. You may be taking your part in the fighting services or as a volunteer in one of the branches of civil defense; if so, you will report for duty in accordance with the instructions you receive."

"But these efforts have been in vain."

"We are called, with our allies, to meet the challenge of a principle which, if it were to prevail, would be fatal to any civilized order in the world."

Use of Force Sanctioned

"It is a principle which permits a state in the selfish pursuit of power to disregard its treaties and its solemn pledges, which sanctions the use of force or threat of force against the sovereignty and independence of other states."

"Such a principle, stripped of all disguise, is surely the mere primitive doctrine that might is right. And if this principle were established throughout the world, the freedom of our own country and of the whole British Commonwealth of Nations would be in danger."

"But far more than that, the peoples of the world would be kept in the bondage of fear, and all hopes of settled peace and of security, of justice and liberty among nations, would be ended."

"This is the ultimate issue which confronts us."

"For the sake of all that we ourselves hold dear, and of world order and peace, it is unthinkable that we should refuse to meet the challenge."

"It is to this high purpose that I now call my people at home and my peoples across the seas who will make our cause their own."

"I ask them to stand calm and firm and united in this time of trial."

"The task will be hard."

SIXTY WITNESSES CALLED TO INVESTIGATE 26 CRIMINAL CHARGES

KNIFE WIELDING, HIT-SKIP DEATH GO BEFORE JURY

Seven Assault And Battery, Five Bad Check Counts Up For Consideration

15 VENIREMEN SUMMONED

September Term Of Court Opens Tuesday; Numerous Complaints Checked

Sixty witnesses have been called by Prosecutor George E. Gerhardt for the session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury to open Tuesday morning. About 26 cases are listed for consideration.

One case scheduled for the jury is that of Charles Buskirk, 70, South Scioto Street, charged with stabbing with intent to kill Elmer Merriman, 39, of Town Street, an extra police officer on August 6. Mr. Merriman suffered a chest wound.

It is probable the jury will consider evidence uncovered this week in the hit-skip death of Stanford Burris, 33, of Harrison Township on Route 23 last December 3. Edward Writsel, 17, of Columbus, an inmate of the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster has been named driver of the car by two youths under arrest in Columbus for auto thefts. Writsel has admitted to the prosecutor that a stolen car he was driving was involved in an accident. Burris was found dying in a ditch after the wreck.

Seven cases for the jury charge assault and battery, five bad checks, three are for driving when intoxicated, one for concealed weapons, one for non-support, three for larceny, two for burglary and larceny, one for breaking and entering, and one for driving with a false driver's license.

COUNTY NATIVE DEAD AT HOME IN CHILLICOTHE

Funeral services were held Monday in Chillicothe for Henry Reichelderfer, 76, a native of Pickaway County, who died Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. M. McCollister in Chillicothe.

Mr. Reichelderfer had resided in Chillicothe for six years. He farmed for many years in Pickaway County, retiring in 1929. He was the son of Enos and Maria Poe Reichelderfer and was born in Pickaway County on July 13, 1866. His wife, Della Rush Reichelderfer, preceded him in death.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Estella McCollister and Mrs. Eva Darling, both of Chillicothe; four sons, Arthur and Joseph, of Chillicothe, and Marvin and Eugene, of Ashville; one sister, Mrs. Minnie Morris, of Lewistown; one brother, Eugene, of Granville and four grandchildren.

STUNT BY AUTOS INJURES 11 AT MARION GROUNDS

MARION, Sept. 4—A 60-year-old Marion woman was reported in critical condition and 10 other persons were recovering from less serious injuries today, the result of an auto-collision stunt that "missed fire."

The accident occurred at the Marion County fairgrounds where a "thrill circus," sponsored by the Marion Central Labor Union, had attracted a crowd of 10,000 persons. When two automobiles, scheduled to crash head-on with their drivers jumping just before the collision, failed to meet, one car struck the railing in front of the grandstand.

scious public weighed President Roosevelt's evaluation of American neutrality—particularly in contrast to Woodrow Wilson's statement 25 years ago at the outbreak of the World War that "we must be impartial in thought as well as in action."

Mr. Roosevelt said to the radio public of the world: "This nation will remain a neutral nation, but I cannot ask that every American remain neutral in thought as well. Even a neutral has a right to take account of facts. Even a neutral cannot be asked to close his mind or his conscience."

"I hope the United States will keep out of this war. I believe that it will. And I give you assurance and reassurance that every effort of your government will be directed to that end."

Future Affected He said that "passionately though we may desire detachment, we are forced to realize that every word that comes through the air, every ship that sails the sea, every battle that is fought does affect the American future."

In announcing he was having a neutrality proclamation prepared, President Roosevelt delivered what many observers considered a direct admonition to the congress which is about to be called back into special session. "I trust that in the days to come our neutrality can be made a true neutrality," he said.

and new war measures were taken by the government. Stock markets were ordered closed for the afternoon in order to halt any spectacular rises in speculative issues. Inflationary movements in general were feared.

Closed for a time when France yesterday declared war on Germany, the French-Italian frontier along the narrow strip of Rivera coast-line was reopened to normal traffic today.

France's declaration of war, made at 1 P. M. (Circleville time) brought the immediate recall of Ambassador Robert Coulondre from Berlin. Today, according to the Petit Parisien, French interests in the Reich were turned over to the United States embassy, which is in charge of Alexander C. Kirk, counsellor.

Sidi Ahmed Bey, who sits on the throne of Tunis, today pledged to the French resident-general, Armand Guillon, the "attachment" of his North African country to France. Tunis is one of the areas whose "return" was demanded by Italy.

On the Maginot Line, France's chain of underground fortresses and pill-boxes, and on the Limes, or Siegfried Line, Germany's "west wall," millions of men confronted each other, but whether there has been any actual fighting yet has not been disclosed. The fact that France declared war eight hours after her ally, Great Britain, was explained by the fact that France, being nearer to Germany, could place her military forces into action much more quickly.

Gamelin In Charge (Predictions of the war's strategy said Britain would send a small, but highly mobilized and fast-moving land expeditionary force to France, while concentrating on aerial and naval warfare. The land forces are to be under command of Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of the French defense general staffs. Britons are to head the combined naval and air forces.)

In delivering word of France's vital decision to the nation, Premier Daladier said Chancellor Hitler deliberately "chose" the war. "Since Sept. 1," he said, "Poland has been the victim of brutal aggression. Responsibility for the blood that is being spilled rests on Hitler's government. "Hitler had it in his hand to decide between peace and war. He chose war."

Before demanding his passports, Ambassador Coulondre told Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop in Berlin that Germany assumed "heavy responsibility in engaging in hostilities against Poland with no declaration of war, and without replying to the suggestions of the British and French governments."

By way of Belgium, 130 members of the staff of the German embassy entrained for home last night at 11:08 o'clock. A number of French mobile guards, bearing rifles, were mounted on the train.

MANY OF COUNTY SCHOOLS START CLASSES AGAIN (Continued from Page One) Muhlenberg District to Monroe District. Under provisions made by the Muhlenberg Township Board of Education the Darbyville school will be operated as a grade school.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, announced Monday that an allotment of $168 a month has been granted Pickaway county for student aid under the National Youth Administration program. Mr. McDowell is county chairman under the program.

This allotment provides aid for 28 students. The program gives needy students an opportunity to obtain part time employment in school offices and libraries and doing other work in the schools. The maximum amount per week for each student is $1.50. So far there have been 26 requests for student aid.

gone to the bottom. It was assumed the torpedoing was the work of a German U-boat.

The United States embassy announced that the approximate total of Americans aboard was 311, although final figures may prove to be somewhat less. The International News Service correspondent at Glasgow reported that except for those killed by the detonation, all of the 1,400 persons aboard had taken to lifeboats "and in many cases were picked up by vessels hurrying to the scene."

Immediate fate of the passengers could not be ascertained, nor could the length of time the Athenia remained afloat after the torpedo tore through her vitals.

Brief Report Received A brief announcement by the admiralty stated: "S. S. Athenia, 1,400 passengers on board, reported to the Admiralty she had been torpedoed 200 miles west of the Hebrides."

The Hebrides are a group of sparsely populated islands lying off the northwest coast of Scotland.

The torpedoing, first assault on a merchant liner since Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced yesterday that Britain was at war with Germany, apparently came with dramatic suddenness.

The Athenia's SOS and a few brief messages crackling through the ether, brought word to London girded at last for lengthy conflict that 100 American college girls, returning home after a pleasure tour of Europe, were aboard.

Many of the passengers were Canadian refugees returning to safety across the Atlantic.
